chic sips

Our new favorite way to mix up a signature cocktail is to add St-Germain liqueur. This "it" ingredient is savory, not too sweet and comes from a white wildflower called elderflower. We love it mixed with everything from champagne to a dry white wine, an old-school gin and tonic, or even a mojito. Think of it as the hot new wedding reception signature cocktail must-have. Then again, it could also steal the show at your bachelorette party!
